

CUGG Presentation
August 9, 2008
Google Notebook – Dick Maxfield

Introduction

Google Notebook is one of my favorites Google tools—it's a great useful companion for doing online research and annotating things that you find while browsing the World Wide Web.

Google account necessary—either email or regular account

Using Google Notebook—Many tutorials on the Web

<http://www.googletutor.com/2008/04/04/google-notebook-tip-how-to-create-your-first-google-notebook/>

<http://www.googletutor.com/2007/11/05/the-basics-google-notebook/>

Demonstrations

- Notebook plugin—IE and Mozilla Firefox
- Start a new notebook
- Create section (subcategory)
- Use move feature or drag and drop
- Labels (tags)
- Delete feature
- Note this (right-click feature when you want to capture material from the web)
- Clip it feature in pop-up or plugin