

Snapchat, Pinterest, Vine, Instagram, Path

By Jamie Leben

September 14, 2013

<http://www.snapchat.com>

A free smartphone based social picture sharing service for Android and iOS where you send pictures to other Snapchat users. Pictures disappear automatically at a time of your choosing.

<http://www.vine.co>

Vine is a mobile service that lets you create and share short looping videos. Videos you post to Vine will appear on your Vine profile and the timelines of your Vine followers. Posts can also be shared to Twitter or Facebook.

<http://instagram.com/>

A social photo sharing service that allows you to take photos and apply filters, then upload them to social media sites like Facebook. Instagram is owned by Facebook.

<https://path.com>

A social networking smartphone app for Android and iOS with greater control of sharing, meant to be more personal by limiting number of “friends” (originally 50, currently 150). Heavily photo and tagging-centric

<https://www.pinterest.com/>

Pinterest is a social website and smartphone app where you create “pins”- like a visual bookmark. Pins can be grouped, shared with friends, and searched by others. You can sign in with Facebook and Twitter accounts, which allows you to quickly find other Pinterest users you know